How it works is quite simple. Employers place requests with Careers In Nonprofits to post featured opportunities on their virtual job board, developed by AdEasel as part of the overall web development package. Careers then posts the jobs so that potential employees who have become registered members and have created individual profiles can then become matched up with the available positions for which they qualify. The result is a system which aligns valuable candidates with valued causes.

Navigation Entry Points

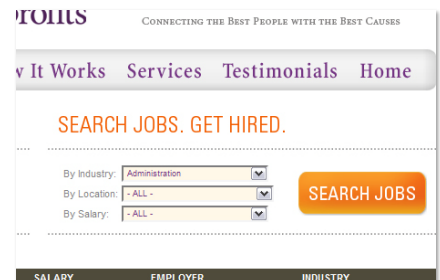

AdEasel developed the site interface to highlight main entry points for both employers and candidates. This segmentation allows each group to immediately navigate toward the information & resources that are most important to them. Employers post job opportunities and candidates apply for them.

Testimonials

Client testimonials are an extremely important feature when it comes to highlighting your business' success stories. In this case, not only does it give a first-hand account of the valuable service which Careers In Nonprofits provides but it also offers support & reinforcement to potential clients seeking to become involved.

Candidate Job Search

When creating a profile job candidates have a number of important fields in which to enter their search criteria. The top 3 attributes include Industry, Location & Salary from which they can search for matches to featured job opportunities currently offered by employers. Matching the best people with the best causes.
